Tea, coffee and juices at Para Mira Tearoom

ST. EUSTATIUS—Many guests, especially members of Chapel Piece Recreational Centre came out to Monday's official opening of Para Mira tearoom.

The tearoom, which is located on Paramiraweg, naturally serves tea, but also coffee, freshly made juices, a variety of salads and sandwiches, but no alcoholic beverages.

Former Directress of Chapel Piece Recreational

Center Hilda Berkel said that since Tearoom proprietor Joske Odijk arrived on St. Eustatius she has visited the facility and always volunteered by serving its residents.

"She was always there to give the seniors a helping hand and never wanted any compensation in return. So this is our way of saying 'thank you' to her in return for her kindness and generosity," Berkel said.

There were two presentations made during the opening. Odijk was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Ethel Brown, who is celebrating her 80th birthday this week. The senior citizen wanted to show her appreciation for the service she received.

Monuments Foundation Director Walter Hellebrand presented a copy of a booklet on the history of the building in which the Tearoom is located. From 1636, the plot was part of a plantation owned by the Benners family. The main house on this plantation was The Cottage, which burned out last year.

Around 1915 it became a plot on a corner when the road which originally ran from the top of the Bay Path directly north along the cliff's edge collapsed and Van Tonningenweg was laid out as its replacement.

There were three houses on the plot, namely, the current Monuments Office, Paper Corner and the new Tearoom. "Statia's 'old heads' will know it as Ben Leslie's property. He lived in what is now the Monuments Office and ran a rum shop in the building on the corner, which is now Paper Corner. Seamstress Helena Hassell lived in what is now the Tearoom. There used to be an outhouse in the yard, shared with the occupants of the current Monuments Office, as well as a traditional Statia stone oven that was still used by Hassell," said Hellebrand.

Chapel Piece Recreational Centre Band entertained the guests who came out to celebrate with Odijk on her new venture. Odijk is a very active person and is a member of the community choir. A poem, which was dedicated to her, was read by a Chapel Piece client. Para Mira tearoom is open Monday through Saturday, 10:00am-2:00pm, and is closed on the building on the corner, Sunday.
